RETAIL

B&Q POOLE

Frederick Thomas, as part of their partnership with B&Q Plc, were awarded the design and installation of their three “manifesto” stores that were all completed in 2013.

The Poole store was the largest of the three stores and the decision was taken to close the store and completely strip out the existing lighting, small power and displays.

To ensure B&Q’s trading presence in Poole was maintained, a temporary store was built in the car park where lighting, power, fire alarms and security systems were installed.

The refurbishment of the main store was completed in seven weeks and contained the largest LED linear retail lighting system in the UK, under the control of a full dimming system.

Many new display innovations were trialled at this store, in which Frederick Thomas played a lead role as far as services, design and integration
